THE MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL.

ESTABLISHED 1840. MEMPHIS, TENN., TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1869. VOL. 29—NO. 359

BY TELEGRAPH.

Dispatches to the Southwestern Press Association.

STARTLING REVELATIONS

Alleged Falsification of Cotton Figures at Liverpool.

LONDON, August 30.—The Times' article on the Manchester Cotton Trade Reports, says: "It is admitted that the returns of the sales of cotton at Liverpool were falsified every day last week, and the figures are really augmented to but little more than half those given to the public, and the result is something of a panic at Manchester, and for the present all confidence is lost in the truth of the returns from Liverpool, and there is no disposition to do business either on the part of the seller or buyer."

CRIME.

Express Messenger Absconds with $12,000.

ST. LOUIS, August 30.—Jacob M. Bear, United States Express Agent and Telegraph Operator, at Brownsville, Nebraska, absconded on the night of the 27th inst. with $12,000 belonging to the Express Company. Bear is the same man who was shot and robbed of a considerable sum of express money at Brownsville last winter, and his recent act has given rise to the suspicion that he shot and robbed himself on that occasion. The Express Company offers $1000 reward for the capture and delivery, and $1000 for the recovery of the money.

LAWLESSNESS IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE.

NASHVILLE, August 30.—Nearly 100 negroes have come to this place from the neighborhood of Smyrna, in Rutherford county, and report that they have been driven away from home by bands of lawless white men. These negroes have been working on shares with the planters, and they as well as the planters will lose heavily if they are not protected in securing the crop. A well known planter from that neighborhood, who makes about 300 bales of cotton, has been threatened by the regulators, and was here to-day to see what could be done to protect himself and the negroes in his employ.

Bands of lawless men are also operating in Sumner county, visiting the negro cabins and taking the negroes out and whipping them. The men engaged in this work are wholly irresponsible, and will not work themselves and desire to prevent others from enjoying the fruits of their labor. Gov. Senter's proclamation warning them may have some effect, but it is probable that the planters will have to form combinations for self protection.

CASUALTIES.

Fatal Boiler Explosion in Pennsylvania.

PHŒNIXVILLE, Pa., Aug. 30.—The boiler in the Phœnix Iron Company's works exploded this morning, killing 10 to 20 workmen, and injuring many more. Five dead bodies have been taken from the ruins, and the wildest excitement among the wives and children of the workmen.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

PHILADELPHIA, August 30.—The first report of the explosion at Phœnixville was exagerated. Only four men were injured; two of them so badly that they cannot recover. A portion of the building was torn away and other damage done.

A HOLOCAUST IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, August 30.—The Pall Mall Gazette reports that in a large village in Russia 1700 persons, members of a fanatical sect, have burned themselves to death.

THE FRENCH EMPEROR.

Serious Illness of Napoleon---A Panic in Paris.

LONDON, August 30.—The Times says there is much anxiety with respect to the French intelligence that Napoleon is certainly ill. None spoke of any imminent danger though there was the utmost uneasiness in Parisian circles and on the Bourse the panic was intense on Thursday, and has been since, and though the alarm is now subsiding, the news is still confused and contradictory and public opinion refuses to reassure. We have no wish to lay great stress on the Emperor's indisposition, but we hardly believe that the rumors are the result of stock stratagems, and we do not think that any good can be served by a stubborn denial of the fact of the Emperor' sickness. It is not without reason that the physicians attend at St. Cloud, and it is not satisfactory to hear that he is able to transact business.

The reports from Paris of the Emperor's health are reassuring. The Independent Belge asserts that the Emperor Napoleon is confined to his bed by a chronic malady, but that the present attack is not of an alarming character.

PARIS, August 30.—The following is official: "The condition of the Emperor grows more and more satisfactory."

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

Status of the Insurgents---General Items.

HAVANA, August 30.—Letters from the jurisdiction of Calsu state that the Insurgents had left that quarter, going east and taking with them all the stores of the San Autaine estate. Gov. Frills, of Lagua la Grande, suppressed the Insurgents at Ensecrella Jada and killed twelve of them.

A Te Deum is ordered to be sung in the churches of Puerto Principe for the disappearance of the cholera.

Capt. Lercola, with 100 men, has killed twelve rebels and taken three prisoners near Cubitas.

The Diaro regrets its inability to send flattering notices regarding the suppression of the insurrection, but reiterates the statement that the Spaniards are in the ascendency in the eastern and central departments.

THE BYRON SCANDAL.

The English Press on Mrs. Hyena Beecher Stowe.

LONDON, August 30.—The article in the Atlantic Monthly, by Mrs. Stowe, on Lady and Lord Byron, creates considerable excitement. The Telegraph comments editorially on it, and says: "Without further explanation, this fearful story cannot be accepted as true."

The Post says: "The question arises whether in the absence of authority this article can be received as Lady Byron's own statement.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Revision of Freight Tariffs.

Slightly increased rates of freight have been adopted by the Erie and New York Central routes, viz: To Chicago, 48c; Cincinnati, 40c; Louisville, 55c; and St. Louis, 58c, all rail.

CHURCH MATTERS.

The Œcuminical Council.

LONDON, August 30.—It is reported from Rome that fifty Bishops only have declined to attend the Œcuminical Council.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

Regulations for the Control of the Inter-Oceanic Thoroughfare.

PARIS, August 30.—The regulations for the navigation of the Suez canal will be open to the vessels of all nations of draft of less than 7½ metres.

THE FENIANS.

Amnesty Asked for Convicted Irishmen.

LONDON, August 30.—Excursions were made yesterday by the Irish citizens of London to Hampton Court and Gravesend. At both places meetings were organized at which appeals were made to the Government for amnesty for the Fenians now under conviction.

CHINESE REBELLION.

Outrages in the Province of Sye-tse-Cung.

HONG KONG VIA LONDON, August 30.—The reports of the massacre of missionaries in the Province of Syetse-Cung, are confirmed. Two hundred are known to have been killed by the populace. The Pekin Government has instituted inquiries concerning the outrage.

HUNGARY.

The Assassination of the Prince of Servia to be Looked into.

PESCH, Aug. 30.—The Supreme Council has approved the impeachment of Prince Karaguerigwitch, for the assassination of the late Prince of Servia, but has permitted him under heavy bail to leave his prison in order to prepare for his defense.

PERSONAL.

THE NATION'S BENEFACTOR.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, VA., Aug. 30.—George Peabody left this morning. His health is much improved.

PRINCE ARTHUR.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., Aug. 30.—Prince Arthur attends the ball here September the 7th. A government steamer meets him at the Reivere de Loup, below Quebec, on the 31st.

THE PARAGUAYAN WAR.

Position of Affairs at Latest Accounts.

LONDON, August 30.—Authentic details of the war in Paraguay have been received. No operations have been attempted by the Allies against the forces of Lopez. Nor have the Paraguayans offered any opposition to Gen. Partena's march on Villa Rica. The chief position of Lopez on the Cordilleras, commands such a view that no movement of the Allies can pass unseen by him.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Cabinet Meeting To-Day.

WASHINGTON, August 30.—A Cabinet meeting will be held to-morrow. All the members are expected except Hoar, Boutwell and Robeson. Mr. Field will attend as the representative of the Attorney-General, and Judge Richards as that of the Treasury Department.

RAWLINGS CONVALESCENT.

Secretary Rawlings is much better. He was able to attend at his office to-day.

RECEIPTS OF REVENUE.

Receipts of internal revenue to-day were $987,000.

MINOR TOPICS.

Texas Bulls take Buffalo.

BUFFALO, August 30.—About seven o'clock this morning ninety head of Texas cattle which were landed from the International ferry boat, stampeded in every direction through the streets, goring and tramping every thing in their way. One man was tossed into Niagara street Park, one woman was fatally gored, and a number of persons more or less injured. Five or six of rhe infuriated animals were shot by the citizens. About fifty swam the Niagara river and scattered on the Canadian side, and others are still running at large in the suburbs.

SENTER.

He Has a Talk with a Herald Reporter.

He Gives His Views About the Situation.

He Says Stokes Told Untruths in His Interview.

He Regards the "Bald Eagle" Politically Dead.

What He Thinks About the Interference of the General Government.

From the New York Herald of Thursday.]

D. W. C. Senter, the present Governor elect of the State of Tennessee, arrived in this city last evening, accompanied by Gen. John A. Mabry, who is spoken of as a probable successor to Senator Fowler; Col. John B. Brownlow, son of ex-Gov. Brownlow, and Col. D. M. Nelson. The Governor and his party, shortly after being installed in comfortable quarters at the St. Nicholas Hotel, were called upon by several Tennesseeans of note, who came to pay their respects and offer the Governor their congratulations on his election. Mr. Senter is a young man, being only thirty-six years of age, is above the medium size, and stoutly, or rather solidly, built. He is quite affable in his manner, courteous to a fault, and a very pleasant conversationalist, but withal rather averse to "talking politics" or "reviewing the situation" for the special purpose of getting himself into print. Our reporter, on announcing his mission, which was to obtain the Governor's views on the condition of affairs in Tennessee and his side of the election story—Gen. Stokes having already furnished his side to the public—was very cordially received, and, after a little "gentle prevailing," succeeded in drawing him into conversation on the mooted Tennessee subject.

HE WANTS TO LET THE TENNESSEE QUESTION DIE.

"The fact of the matter is," said the Governor, in answer to our reporter's inquiry as to the motive of his journey North, "the fact of the matter is I don't like to talk politics after election time, especially when the 'talk' is published in the newspapers. I would rather let the whole Tennessee question die out of itself, which it will if it is only left alone. You ask me if I came North to see Gen. Grant about the election in our State. To this I answer no. My visit has nothing whatever of an official character, and it is not my intention to speak to the President concerning Tennessee. I do not think it necessary."

HE THINKS THE FEDERAL OFFICERS IN TENNESSEE ARE ALL GRANT MEN.

Reporter—But, Governor, you know Stokes says he will have all the Federal office-holders in Tennessee removed who voted for you. A word from you might change the aspect of things.

Senter—I do not intend to see the President on the subject. If the office-holders who voted for me are removed it will be a gross injustice, for every one of them is a staunch Republican and an ardent Grant man. This puts me in mind that Stokes claims that all the good Republicans voted for him at the election. Well, I will show you how false is such an assertion. First and foremost, nine out of every ten of the Grant and Colfax electors of the State voted for me, and three-fourths of the State delegates to the Chicago Convention voted for me. They were during the Presidential campaign, and are still, strong Grant men. The fact of the matter is, the fight in the late election was strictly between the liberal Republicans and what people in Tennessee understand by "restrictive" Republicans, the latter being opposed to extending the franchise or any way holding out a hope to the men who had joined the wrong side during the war of an era of peace and brotherly feeling. The platform of the liberals who elected me was based on the resolution offered by Carl Schurz at the Chicago Convention, and which was made a part of the platform on which Grant fought the battle for the Presidency. That resolution favored the extension of privileges and the removal of disabilities from the people of any of the States that had been in rebellion whenever it was found safe to invest them with all the rights they had lost by the rebellion. On the strength of that platform we won the fight.

HE DEFENDS HIS REGISTRARS AND ANSWERS STOKES' CHARGE OF UNFAIR REGISTRATION.

Reporter—Your opponent says by fraudulent registration.

Senter—He says, when he says that, what he knows to be untrue. He lays great stress on the fact that his vote was within 2500 of the vote cast for Grant. Now a full vote was not polled by the Republicans at the Presidential election. They felt they had a sure thing, and consequently many of them stayed at home. That vote, therefore, cannot be justly taken as a test vote by Stokes. The vote to compare our last election with is that cast in 1867. And how do the facts stand? Why, Stokes got 19,900 votes less than Brownlow in 1867, and the old registration was in full force in 1869. You will thus see that all this talk about "fraudulent registration" is just so much bosh; for he would have been defeated by his opponent's getting 19,000 majority had there been no new registration. He bases much of his assertions about fraud in the elections, I believe, on the point of there being such a heavy vote cast; but he could easily explain the increased vote if he chose to. The decision of the Supreme Court of the State, you will remember, some time before the election, decided that all those who had been granted certificates by the first enfranchise law, but who were deprived of the right of voting by the second enfranchise law and by executive proclamations should be allowed to vote. This admitted 40,000 votes that had been heretofore kept out. As for the charges that the election was carried by my appointing corrupt registrars, they are absurd. I appointed the best men I could find. Indeed, I removed registrars in Wilson and several other counties, whom I knew to be strong advocates of my election, because they refused to issue certificates according to law, as fixed by the Supreme Court decision. Among others I removed a registrar whom I found selling certificates to whites and blacks alike for twenty-five cents apiece. Was the removal of such a man a "fraud?" Why, sir, all the charges of fraud in the world cannot change the actual result of the election. In the Calf-killer district, where Stokes fought his only battle during the war, and got whipped at that, he didn't get a single vote. He was beaten in his own county, in his own Senatorial district, in his own Congressional district, in fact, beaten in every Congressional district. In his own district Brooks, the "restrictive" candidate, got 350 votes less than Thornberg, the Radical candidate, in 1867. Can Stokes charge that to the registration decision which admitted so many additional votes?

HE DEFENDS BROWNLOW AS A STRAIGHT OUT REPUBLICAN AND THE YOUNGEST MAN OF HIS AGE.

Reporter—What do you think, Governor, about what the "restrictive" party say concerning Gov. Brownlow, about his having made a political somersault?

Senter—Political somersault? I tell you Mr. Brownlow is to-day as strong, as ardent and as unflinching a Republican as he ever was. In what has he changed? He is an enthusiastic Grant and Administration man, and that's just what I am myself. Somersault, indeed! Why Brownlow is the youngest man of his age—if I may be permitted a seeming paradox—in the United States. He is a true progressive Republican. Probably you remember the fact that he intimated in his message to the Legislature in 1867 that the time would come when the franchise would to have to be extended—that is, when it would be considered safe to trust the State in the hands of men who had been connected with the rebellion—when, in fact, they had become loyal. At the late election he felt that that time had come, and he advocated the extension of the franchise. Was that making a political somersault? Stokes alleges that one of Brownlow's reasons for "going over" to our side was that he had three sons in State positions, well salaried, and he didn't want them to lose their places. The fact is, he has only one son in the said service of the State and that son was given his position at my urgent demands, simply because he had worked so hard for the Republican party in the State without reward that I thought he ought to get something.

HE DEFENDS THE WHITE PEOPLE AND SAYS THEY WILL DO WHAT IS RIGHT.

Reporter—Do you think that the new Legislature will disfranchise the negroes?

Senter—It will not even touch upon that subject. It will do nothing that the Republican party can call revolutionary; nor will it do aught that will injure the vital interests of the State as they at present exist. The white people feel kindly toward the negroes, and Stokes did not speak truly when he said that they were beginning to persecute the blacks as of old. As for his talking about having the election nullified by the Federal Government, that is all buncombe. The election is a fixed fact. It was as fair a one as ever was held in any State, and the general government would have no more right to nullify it than it would to nullify an election in Massachusetts. The "restrictives" charge that since the election outrages and murders by "rebels" have become frequent, which is another falsehood. But two men have been killed in the State since the election, and they were men who voted for me, and they were killed while wrangling about politics by Stokes men, one of the murderers having been at one time an officer in his regiment.

THE SENATORIAL AND FINANCIAL QUESTIONS.

Reporter—What about the Senatorial question? Do you think Andrew Johnson will win?

Senter—That question is rather mixed, so I cannot say anything positive about it.

Reporter—And that question of the finances—the repudiation of the new State bonds?

Senter—All I can say about that is, that that bond question is yet unsettled. The question of repudiation never came up in the election campaign and was never broached by either party; but I know that there are men in various parts of the State who wield very great influence among the people and who are advocating the repudiation of the new bonds.

Our reporter at this point felt satisfied that he had sufficiently taxed the Governor's patience, at the same time that he had exhausted his stock of queries, and so bid the party good night.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Why He Should be Sent to the Senate by the People.

From the New Orleans Times of Saturday.]

We regret to perceive an effort on the part of certain political managers and aspirants to defeat the just expectations of the people of Tennessee for the election of the ex-President to the United States Senate.

The opposition to "Andy" is based on two very opposite and antagonistic grounds.

The first is an appeal to Confederate prejudices, and refers to his violent course and sentiments toward the South during the war. The second springs from an apprehension that his appearance in the Senate will exasperate the Radicals and Grant, and provoke further measures of hostility against the South.

Neither appears to us to be justly founded and wisely urged.

That Andrew Johnson was violent, extreme, and even vindictive during the war, when that war was waged, as he believed, for the Union and the preservation of republican principles, may be admitted without disparagement of his consistency and honesty, how much soever it may be censurable on the score of temper and moderation. He is justly entitled to a large charity in view of his deep and earnest conviction of the right and justice of his cause, and of the imminent peril of the country. His excesses were those of a sincere, honest, intense man; and even his bitterest enemies, and the largest sufferers from his violence, now that the war has closed, and all its sad memories and exciting passions are sought to be obliterated, ought to pardon the same in consideration of his honesty. That honesty has been attested as that of no other of the prominent chiefs in the war has been. It has stood the trial and come forth with a lustre which ought to cast into the shade of oblivion all his violent and persecuting deeds and words. It has furnished an ample justification or palliation for even his excesses. He has shown that with him it really was a war for the Union and republicanism, and not for sectionalism, for the North and negroes. What the others falsely and hypocritically pretended, he has shown was by him sincerely felt and faithfully acted out. We may forgive in him what ought never to be forgiven in them, for they did violent and outrageous acts under false pretenses, and for ignoble ends; what he did and said of a like character were prompted by honest convictions and for worthy purposes. And now we find him equally positive, tenacious and uncompromising in combatting his false and faithless allies against the South in the war for the Union, as he was in that contest against our section. They propose to abandon, to ignore, to prove traitors to the cause for which he fought and he now turns upon them the wrath which once blazed so fiercely against the South. It is events, the relations of parties, the views and passions of corrupt, false and hypocritical politicians and time-servers, who have changed—not Andrew Johnson. He stands now where he did in the Senate of the United States in 1861, when he was the only brave and defiant combatant and fearless adversary of the fierce and powerful Southern leaders of the secession movement; where he stood at Nashville in 1863-4-5, and so heroically resisted the "rebel hosts." A man with this record will not appeal in vain to the generosity, magnanimity, sympathy and confidence of a people like those of the South, who are not prone to revengeful feeling toward those who have been even violent and extreme, bu honest and consistent in their warfare.

As to the second ground of opposition to Andrew Johnson, it is hardly worthy of a brave and manly party or people. That he will not please the Radicals; that he will excite their bitterest hostility: that they will wage fierce war against him, may be quite confidently expected. But will he be less useful, effective and powerful on that account? Is not the game of conciliation and compromise, of truckling and dodging, "played out," and the need of a new strategy imperatively demanded? Does not the present situation of the country afford the very occasion and opening for a man of the qualities of Andrew Johnson, who has the boldness and the capacity to arouse and rally to his support the great popular sentiment and conviction, so long ignored and disregarded by political chiefs, and upon whose corrective power and influence alone, we should be taught by sad experience, the country must rely for its redemption and the safety and perpetuity of our Republican system.

This Andy Johnson will do. He may be voted down, he may be abused, maligned, denounced and hated by the politicians, but he will find support, encouragement, sympathy and applause from the honest masses. Thus he will establish, organize and give power to the only agency by which constitutional and honest government can be restored in this country. This can never be done by and through the partisan chiefs who have been foisted into the high places of the Republic. It would indeed be a lamentable and discouraging fact if so important a result should be prevented by the intrigues of political aspirants, and the short-sightedness of the Tennessee legislators.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Regular Habit of Body is Absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs, and one of its most common results is CONSTIPATION. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants—such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminated blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant, or a tonic, or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, with our steel engraved revenue stamp over the cork, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

A fine complexion, free from all blemishes, is secured by using Milk of Violets, which produces a healthy action of the skin. Sold by druggists and fancy goods dealers. V. W. Brinckerhoff, N. Y., general agent,

STATE NEWS.

The Washington Chronicle titles Gen. Mabry, of Knoxville, the Railroad King of Tennessee, and says he stands a good change of taking Fowler's place in the Senate.

The Franklin Review says: We are credibly informed that the Franklin Corporation is going to erect a very handsome town hall, on the same spot where the old county offices used to stand.

There will be a grand agricultural fair at Knoxville, on the 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th of October. Great preparations are being made, and it is expected to be a paying affair to the Knoxvillians.

The press of Georgia have been to Chattanooga, visited the coal mines, Lookout Mountain and other points of interest, and gone back home. Gov. Bullock, a Supreme Judge, and ever so many members of the Senate and House of Georgia were of the party.

The Knoxville Press and Herald of Saturday has a communication in regard to the University of East Tennessee, in which the writer insists that in the organization of the University, no question has been raised as to the politics or birthplace of any member of the faculty. A majority of the professors, it is true, were originally from the Northern States, but some have also been associated with them from the extreme South, and no occasion of quarrel ever originated between them on that subject. The students are alike divided in their antecedents, some having been on one side and some on the other in the great civil war, but they likewise have worked harmoniously together. The subject of politics has given no trouble whatever to those immediately connected with the University.

MISSISSIPPI NEWS.

The Charleston Tallahatchian of the 28th says that place was visited by a severe wind and hail storm on the Monday evening previous. Several temporary buildings were blown down.

The Panola Star of Saturday says: After an almost complete drouth of twelve weeks, a copious rain, accompanied by hail and considerable wind, fell on Monday evening, about half past 7 o'clock. Abundant showers also visited us on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon, which will materially benefit the late corn.

A correspondent writing to the Jackson Clarion, from Brandon, states that Bill McGowan, Probate Judge of Rankin county, convicted of serious crimes, in default of $2000 bail, was lodged in jail. On the next day Maj. Rosencrants, whom we presume to be some military upstart sent over by Ames, to "preserve the peace," demanded the keys of the jail and released McGowan. He afterwards in company with a squad of soldiers escorted McGowan to the courthouse, and one of the soldiers opened the Probate Court, (this being the regular term,) and in a few minutes the same soldier adjourned the same Court to the next term.

THE NEWS.

A London eccentric has left Louis Napoleon $600,000.

Bierstandt, the artist, has a cross of the Legion of Honor.

Mrs. Ames, the sculptress, is to become a dramatic reader.

An International Congress on Prison Discipline is to be held next year in Europe.

Cincinnati and St. Louis talk of a league, offensive and defensive, against Chicago.

Anna Cora Mowatt Ritchie is London correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle

A lady out West has given birth to her thirty-first child, the oldest being but twenty-nine.

The King of Bavaria is going to celebrate the birthday of Gluck, Mozart and Beethoven.

Liszt's new oratorio of "Christ" is said to be the most extraordinary piece of descriptive music ever composed.

A new dock was recently completed at Hull, England, which was begun nine years ago, and cost about £1,000,000.

An Austrian woman has been arrested for the horrible offense of bleeding young girls and drinking their blood.

There are sixteen portraits of Mary Queen of Scots in the British National Gallery in London, all utterly dissimilar.

It is remarked as a curious fact that the Edinburgh newspapers pay more attention to literature than those of London.

At the Museum of Painting at Paris, they chain the pictures to the walls to prevent thieves from carrying them away.

The ladies of Turkey have taken to reading the newspapers and have started one of their own, printed on fine yellow paper.

Dressy costumes are made partly of striped and partly of either self-colored or shot glace silk. Some of these glace silks are both cheap and pretty in mauve, or blue, or green, or apricot, or wool color and white. The low short dress, with looped up skirt, is always self-colored or shot; the chemizette, tight sleeves and underskirt striped.

Cincinnati and St. Louis are each to ship "drum" corps of their prominent merchants to California on the 1st of September.

San Francisco's daily illustrated has begun publication. Its illustrations are by zincography, a method much used in France.

A new manufacture is about to be introduced into Lyons, namely, that of ladies' chignons in silk, by aid of the Jacquard loom.

At a recent funeral in Hartford the organist played Schubert's "Serenade" as a voluntary; and a short time before played "Departed Days" at a wedding.

An English artist, Marks, is painting for the Prince's Theater, Manchester, a picture (24 feet long by 4 high) of Shakspeare, surrounded by his principal characters.

A young man of sixteen, the son of a Cincinnati lawyer, is writing a tragedy founded on the St. Bartholomew massacre, to be brought out at a Cincinnati theater next winter.

The composers who take part in constructing the Rossini Requiem, are Bazzala, Bazzini, Pedrotti, Cagnoni, Ricci, Nini, Bucheron, Coccia, Gaspart, Platincia, Mabellini, and Verdi.

Miss Susan B. Anthony insists that man and wife shall not sleep together. The furniture dealers of Sandusky, Ohio, have read Susan's article and have named the forlorn single bedstead in use in hotels and boarding houses "Susanthonies."

One of the most amazing things in the Dent-Boutwell embroglio is the constant reference to Grant's "magnanimity" in those political complications at the bottom of the row. Magnanimity is greatness of soul, and where the same crops out in Grant in any part of the dirty business it would be difficult to say.

THE WEEKLY APPEAL will be ready for subscribers on Wednesday morning. Merchants and others desiring to communicate with and compliment their country friends, can accomplish their object handsomely and creditably by sending them copies of our mammoth weekly, the subscription price of which is as low as that of the great New York weeklies, which it equals in size and amount of reading matter.

THE particular attention of cotton men is called to the telegram reporting a falsification of the Liverpool cotton report every day last week, and the consequent panic in the English market.

ELSEWHERE we publish the official returns of the late election from all but three counties—Grundy, Lewis and Putnam. SENTER'S majority foots up 65,330; figures that will hardly be reduced more than the odd hundreds. The recapitulation is interesting, as it conveys fully the strength of the revolution in public sentiment, and tells, by the difference between the number of votes in November, 1868, and August, 1869, how many voters were enfranchised by the decision of the Supreme Court. In November 122,015 voted; and in August 175,078. Difference in favor of August, 53,063.

STOKES attributes his defeat more to Senator Brownlow's opposition than anything else. So says a Washington dispatch to the New York Herald.

We differ with STOKES. He owes his defeat, first to the fact that the decision of the Supreme Court increased the Conservative votes fully 50,000; second to the unanimity that characterised the white people of the State that the time had come when proscription was to cease, and peace be restored to Tennessee on an enduring basis. SENTER worked, BROWNLOW lent his influence, but it was the white men who resolved and achieved the victory.

STOKES' effort for Federal interference in the affairs of Tennessee are likely to prove abortive. The usually well-informed Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says that the President will get rid of the "Bald Eagle" by informing him of the impossibility of any steps by his administration or by Congress to prevent the legitimate results of our late election, but that he will console the unfortunate who would entail the miseries of reconstruction upon his people by removing all Federal officers who voted or exerted any influence for SENTER. The New York Times' Washington correspondent says that well-posted politicians, of the most Radical stripe, laugh at STOKES' proposition to convene an extra session of Congress; adding that there is not the slightest probability that the President will do anything of the kind. Thus is the poor, miserable, defeated tool of Radicalism regarded by the leading organs of public opinion at the North. They laugh at his schemes as impracticable, wild, visionary and beyond the possibility of accomplishment even by a partizan and corrupt Congress. The most intense Radicals look upon him with disgust or contempt. The time has passed when he and such as he, can expect to direct the Government of the United States as an instrument of private malice and vengeance. His "day is done." He will serve out his term in the House of Representatives and then sink into the oblivion his conduct merits. Nothing will so well become him as his final taking off. His effort to induce confusion in our public affairs, to reopen the wounds made by the war and bring back upon us, with redoubled force and violence, the murders, outrages and feuds that characterized BROWNLOW'S reign, is so deep and damning an infamy that scarcely the vicarious atonement would wash it away. He has filled his cup of disgrace to the full and must hereafter take his place with the enemies of our State and the contemptible tools of the most vile of political organizations.

To disprove the malicious misrepresentation of his own neighbors by STOKES we have a swift witness and sure, in the person of the editor of the Knoxville Whig, who in the issue of that journal of Saturday last, says: "Gen. STOKES' representation of the "persecutions of loyal men by guer- "rilla bands, consisting of ex-rebel "soldiers, is not true." In proof of which Dr. PEARNE says: "In "STOKES' own county, and, as it were, "at his own door, FRAZIER, a SENTER "man, was shot down in cold blood, "by HATHAWAY, while the Sheriff "(a STOKES man) held the victim so "that the murder might be done more "surely. Mr. SCOTT, editor of the "Maryville Republican, was prevented "from voting. In Union or Claiborne "county, a SENTER man was killed "for exercising his rights, while the "Registrar of Union county was "threatened by STOKES men with violence." To these undeniable proofs of the falsehoods of STOKES, the Whig man adds: "The truth is, Gen. "STOKES misrepresents the facts "when he represents Tennessee as be- "ing more unquiet and unsafe since "than before the election. The re- "verse is the fact, as we believe. The "hue and cry he speaks of about men "fleeing from the State to get away "from the rebels is sensational."

THE Philadelphia Age says what was proposed as the "Gettysburg Reunion" lacks the presence of Southern officers, and that "the prominent Southern leaders have answered the invitations sent to them with polite refusals." The Age indicates that this is just what was to have been expected, especially when the fact is taken into view that "many Radical papers fell into spasms" as soon as the meeting was announced. An organ of Gov. GEARY declared that the Monument Association, of which he is President, "had never authorized its Secretary to send their circular indiscriminately to rebel and Union officers," and denounces it as an attempted "compromise with rebels and traitors." In reply to the invitation received by him, Gen. LEE said:

> I think it wiser, moreover, not to keep open the sores of war, but to follow the example of those nations who endeavored to obliterate the marks of civil strife, to commit to oblivion the feelings it engendered.

And even CHARLES SUMNER, in May, 1862, offered the following resolution in the Senate:

> Resolved, That in the efforts now making for the restoration of the Union and the establishment of peace throughout the country, it is inexpedient that the names of the victories obtained over our fellow-citizens should be placed on the regimental colors of the United States.

It is certainly true that the very minute the war closed there was a general anxiety for universal conciliation, and that the whole past should to the utmost be buried in amity and fraternity. And, if it was possible there should be any distinction among the good people of the country, this desire was most intensely felt and most earnestly expressed by officers and soldiers of the two great contending belligerents. What could be less desirable than flags, memorials and monuments, flaunted in the faces of the combatants, and intended to perpetuate recollections more or less bitter to all, of a civil war which there were abundant reasons why all should deplore. It was felt to be a great misfortune to the country, under such circumstances, that there should be a horde of politicians, an army of contractors, a body of shoddyites, a mass of malignants, the lookers on, and vultures and debris of the war, who now rose up to further their selfish ends by obstructing a complete pacification. No man can doubt that but for this we should have had the blessings of the most perfect accord and peace of all our sections and peoples within a twelve-month, and that at this day we should have been far advanced on the road to ultimate prosperity. It is fortunate at last that a stage of progress has been reached in which we may hope these evil influences are so far at an end, and the resolve of the country for peace has become so determined, that we may trust an adjustment and settlement has come. There has not been a moment when the South was not with almost unanimous voice anxious for it. The Age, commenting on the proposed Gettysburg assemblage, and with reference to the delay of pacification, says:

> The word given out by the Radical leaders was "keep up the war." They have now kept it up nearly five years, after the surrender of the South and its armies; and they will keep it up, if they can, for fifty years, and bequeath it as a good inheritance to their Radical progeny. The Radical politicians are like the rascally doctor who did not instantly pull the thorn out of the patient's foot, because he would then get well immediately, and want no more "doctoring." We have done and we shall do all we can to get the people to dismiss the vile political quacks whose selfish aim is to keep open the sores of civil war. They have been healed promptly in other countries, which were not cursed with such a crew of selfish, profligate, unpatriotic miscreants as the clique of Radicals who have now, for some years, ruled their party in Congress. The great civil wars of England were ended by a prompt and complete reconciliation. A marriage united the rival houses of York and Lancaster and all their partisians. The restoration of Charles the II was attended by acts of oblivion that covered nearly all cases. The most striking instance of modern times was the pacification of France by Napoleon, as first Consul. Allison's history says: "The rapid and complete pacification of La-Vendee by Napoleon proves how much the long duration of its bloody and disastrous war had been owing to the cruelty and oppression of the Republican authorities." Still more to the point is the account given by the Marchioness de la Roche Jaquelein, who shared to the last the fortunes of the Royalists in La Vendee. She says: "Nothing could exceed the attention shown to the Vendeans liberated from prison, or applying for amnesty; and it was even forbid, on pain of three days' imprisonment, to call them brigands. In the quaint language of the day, the representatives ordered that they should be called erring brethern (freres egares.)"

Would to Heaven the language of experience might be heeded, and the lessons of wisdom treasured up by all our people. It is not by meetings on battle grounds, and the revival of painful recollections, which are necessitated by such an assemblage, that any good is at present to be done to the country. It is impossible by meeting on common ground, which would be more crowded with speculators, adventurers and shoddy, than by the impoverished officers and soldiers, the victims of the fray, that fraternization should be accomplished. The many hearts, pained with the retrospect, would rather seek the sanctuaries of silence, and strive forever to forgive on both sides, what, on neither they can ever forget. They need neither conventions, nor monuments, nor volition, to bring to their mind what is already so indelibly inscribed on the memory as to be imperishable. It is sufficient without external aids that the recollection cannot be obliterated. The Age concludes as follows:

> The battles of the war will live in the memory of this generation, and history will carry them down to future generations, and they will become subjects of common interest to the whole country. The historical retrospect that we made just now recalls to us how the wars of York and Lancaster are painted with grand impartiality by the great English dramatist in his series of historical plays. No doubt in Shakespeare's day the descendants of the men who fought at Bosworth field looked on as complacently as we do at Richard the III and Henry of Lancaster, fighting it with broadswords on the stage. Mr. Boker or Col. Fitzgarald may yet put "Gettysburg" in a play. It is worthy of the best illustration that poetry, or pictures, or landmarks can give it. It was the greatest battle of the war; we at least may be allowed to think so in Pennsylvania. There was little disparity in numbers and none in courage; the favorite champion of the South led their array, and by a providential circumstance, three days before the battle, the command of the Army of the Potomac devolved on a great soldier, second to none who have won renown in the war. As a military event, we doubt not the men who played conspicuous parts in it could talk to-day of it as calmly as they could of the battle of Bosworth.
> There is in truth, no real enmity now felt towards the old military leaders of the South, even by the Radicals. They hate, not Robert E. Lee, of Virginia, the Confederate General, but Governor Walker, of Virginia, the Union Colonel, who lately whipped the Radicals not only out of their boots but out of their offices. When they now bellow rebel, traitor, secessionist, it is commonly at some man, who was not only on the side of the North, but was even a Republican leader like Johnson, Chase, Blair, Etheridge, and others.
> The Southern officers would have been courteously received at Gettysburg, where no doubt, their absence is regretted; and it is a pity that the whole affair has been managed in a way that did not attract confidence, though some representations about it may not have done it justice. Geary, as usual, seems to have played fast and loose in the matter.

THE attention of our readers is directed to a report of a conversation with SENTER by a New York Herald reporter. It will be found to be in many respects a fair statement of fact, to be in the main correct and to contain a verification of the Governor's oft reiterated statement that he is now and expects to remain a Republican. He has confidence in the people who elected him, and speaks and acts like one who is trying to prove his gratitude for the honor implied in the handsome majority by which he was elected Governor. We are glad to notice that he has a becoming sense of the dignity of his position and that he does not mean to consult or be consulted by the President in reference to the late election or the affairs of our State. He characterizes STOKES more by prompt, direct and full refutation of that person's mistatements than by mere allusions to the creature whom he has so effectually put under his foot.

A PORTION of the Northern press, not under the influence of the great telegraph monopoly, is earnestly urging the importance of government control. A reason of no little importance is that the prices charged by it are three times too high. Another reason is that it is controlled by partizans in the interest of party, and exerts a very great and almost controlling effect on elections, enabling the "wire workers" to control events, where there is anything like a balance of parties, to suit their own schemes and purposes. A third reason is that it is in the hands of the Northern bondholders and capitalists, and is used for speculative purposes, and to enrich the proprietors and their friends, at the expense of the merchants, capitalists and masses of the people of the country. As these significant facts are more and more developed, influences are beginning, more and more, to augment and concentrate against the injurious monopoly. A cry is raised in answer that government control will be still more pernicious and even dangerous to liberty. But the answer is ready enough, that nothing can exceed the evils of the present system, and that there is no difficulty about guarding by law to all the extent necessary to prevent abuses. It is the duty of the Government to put down all injurious monopolies, to all the extent of its power.

The telegraph is only useful for the communication of that which has too much importance to wait the ordinary course of the mails. The matter sent to the Southern press is trash in that sense, and to so large an extent, that if faithfully winnowed, the wheat which would remain might be sent by special telegrams, at the exorbitant rates of private dispatches, and the press would save money by it. This is a burden to the whole people, who must return the outlay. The people, as well as the public journals, would be benefited by the destruction of this monopoly at some rate or other. If the Government at Washington intends to deal with useful reforms instead of partizan politics, and the maintainance of usurpations having no fruit but the continuance of strife, it will take this matter in hand at an early period after the meeting of Congress.

The New York Herald mentions, as a new and remarkable invention, "an automic system of self-telegraphing power, which will multiply eight or ten times the facilities of telegraphic communication." It also adds that "the Government will be asked to test this invention and to take control of and use it for the public good." Welcome the day. The Herald says:

> Congress never did a better thing than when it appropriated thirty thousand dollars for putting up and testing the magnetic telegraph line between Washington and Baltimore. What wondeful results have followed! Yet the opposition was so great that it took five years—that is, from 1838, when the Committee on Commerce first reported the bill, till 1843, when it was finally passed and signed by the President—to get this insignicant sum for trying the greatest invention then of the age. Let us hope our present Congress will prove itself more enlightened. It should pass at once on reassembling Mr. Washburne's bill appropriating sixty thousand dollars for an experimental postal telegraph line between New York and Washington, with an addition of any other sum, if necessary, to test on such line the new automatic system.

The object of the new proprietors is to place the whole telegraphic system of the country under Government control. The inventor proposes to connect it with the general postal system. No man will now contend that the postoffice should be in private hands. Yet, the change to Government control met the same opposition when it was made that this new scheme is likely to do now. The telegraph is now used almost as commonly as the mails, and the same reasons which have induced Governments to take charge of communications by letter, exist and grow more and more strong daily why the telegraph should be under the same control. Experience has proved that the control of one is harmless, and it will equally do so with that of the other. The Herald concludes a labored discussion of this matter as follows:

> But there is another and very important view to be taken of the use and power of the telegraph and the necessity of its being under Government control. It must become the great regulator of commerce, of financial operations and of exchange. Few will take the trouble to write letters and wait the slow process of the mails when the facilities of telegraphing are increased eight or ten fold. The time is at hand when almost all communication will be by telegraph. Financial operations will be revolutionized. The old system of exchange and the profits thereon will be abolished. People will communicate directly and freely with each other from one part of the country, or of the world, to another. The capital of commercial men will be more than doubled in use; for instead of waiting for the mails they can learn instantly of the acceptance of bills or the payment and receipt of money, and can go to work with new operations. Indeed, far less money or currency will be needed. The financial operations and condition of the banks of New York, as exhibited daily by the Clearing House, where a hundred millions or so of transactions are represented or adjusted by a small balance of one or two millions, will show what an effect the telegraph may have in extending such a system to the whole country. The question arises here—and it is one which especially concerns New York, which is destined to absorb the financial business of this continent or of the world—is the power over all these mighty interests and operations to be left in the hands of a few individuals or telegraph companies? Shall all the communications which regulate the commerce, trade and social intercourse of the whole country be left under the control of a few monopolists? We might just as well think of letting them run the machinery of Government.
> No, the time has come when the telegraph should no longer be in the hands of private companies or individuals. The British government has had the sagacity to see this, has purchased the lines in England, and on the 1st of January next will take entire control, in connection with the Postoffice Department, of all telegraphic communications. The great nations have moved slowly in this matter, and have followed what the lesser ones—such as Belgium and Switzerland—have done before. All will have to come to it in time. There is no other way of preserving the secrecy of communications inviolable, of preventing monopolies from using the telegraph to the injury of the public, and of cheapening the transmission of messages. The charges for telegraphing now are enormous and out of all proportion to the capital actually invested in the lines. Under government control and in connection with the postal service they could be reduced to a fifth the present rate.

FINANCE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, }
MEMPHIS, August 30, 1869. }

Local monetary affairs are in statu quo. Since our last issue there has been nothing out of the ordinary routine to report. Currency is becoming closer day by day, and only No. 1 names are taken. These even find it difficult to get all they want, but manage to get along very well.

Exchange is in fair supply. In fact, some of our banks have unloaded to no inconsiderable extent during the week to keep up their supply of currency. This did not affect the exchange market, however, as it was a mere transfer from one bank to another.

There is positively a dearth of news in the way of Stocks and Bonds. With no transactions, quotations are nominal.

City, County and Police Scrips are quiet and generally steady. The demand is only in a small way, and offerings are light. There is no speculative feeling whatever.

Gold has been comparatively steady for some days, and is higher than at the close of our last weekly review. We quote:

Sales of Tennessee Bonds were quoted in New York to-day as follows: Old, 61⅞; New, 52¾. Governments, which were dull early in the week, are again fairly active, closing firm to-day:

COTTON.

The Liverpool cotton market on Tuesday last was quiet, with Uplands 13¾d; Orleans, 14d. It eased up ⅛d on Wednesday, fell another ⅛d on Friday, and closed easier to-day, with Uplands, 13⅛d; Orleans, 13⅜@13¾d. The day's sales were 8000 bales.

The week in New York opened with Ordinary, 30½c; Good Ordinary, 32½c; Low Middlings, 34c; Middlings, 35c. On the following day it declined ½c, but again rallied, and closes quiet but firm to-day with Middlings, 35c. Sales for the day, to spinners, 380 bales; speculators, 175 bales. Among the week's sales for future delivery, we quote on Tuesday 700 bales Low Middlings for September, 32c; 200, December, 27¼c; 100, January, 27c; 100, February, 27¼c; 100, do., 27c. On Wednesday, 800, December, 27¼c. Thursday, 1000, October, 29¼c; November, 28¼c; December, 27¼c. Friday, 250, September, 32c; 100, November, 28¾c; 400, December, 27¼c. To-day the sales were 900 bales, including November, 27⅞c.

Our market has been somewhat excited in consequence of the receipts of several bales of the new crop. On Wednesday last six "first bales" came in in a heap, and all but one were sold at auction, realizing from 33 to 42c. Since then several more bales have arrived, and the receipts of new cotton to present writing will foot up about 20 bales. This is doing well for so early in the season, and shows that picking has commenced even earlier than last year. In a very short time our market will be filled with buyers. Not only those who have usually spent the winter with us, but new ones will make their appearance, and Memphis will continue to rank as the best cotton market in the South. Our stock at present is very limited, and we are likely to enter our next commercial year with about the same amount as was held over in that of 1868-9. The sales for the week were small, though the inquiry is very good, and prices are firm. We quote:

Ordinary	26 @28
Good Ordinary	29 @30
Low Middlings	31 @32
Middling	33 @—

The decline of cotton in Liverpool is no doubt caused by the frauds set forth in our dispatches this morning.

TRADE.

Since our last weekly issue we have had two fine rains in this vicinity, and so far as we can learn they have been general, not only all over our own State but throughout North Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas and Kentucky. The cotton crops are reported in good condition and opening more rapidly than ever known before. In some sections, however, the crop is comparatively a failure—the hill lands especially will make a short yield owing to the drouth. The want of rain is felt probably more immediately in the country adjacent to Memphis than anywhere else.

Trade during the week has been fair considering the intense heat which has prevailed, and prices remain steady on all the leading articles needed upon the plantation.

In dry goods we have no material change to report, and quotations are the same as last week. The initiatory orders for the fall trade come in more extensively, and the campaign will soon open in earnest. Country merchants have been in town looking around, and we are pleased to say that they are making all their arrangements to buy in this market during the coming season. They have found by comparison that the dealers of Memphis can not only sell goods as low and on as favorable terms as anywhere else, but that their stocks present as wide a range in style and texture as in any market this side of New York.

The Boot and Shoe market is firm and fairly active for the season. No branch of trade has been so fortunate as this one since the war, and the Tax Collectors' books will show conclusively that no other business has grown so rapidly. Houses that two or three years ago only purchased a fall stock amounting to $40,000 or $50,000, now buy to the amount of a quarter to half a million, and are constantly receiving fresh supplies. All this has taken place under the worst political rule which has ever cursed a country. What, therefore, will it be now that we are about to throw off this incubus of taxation and disfranchisement. On this subject the Shoe and Leather Reporter justly says:

> We have before written of the excessive taxation in Tennessee, but that is not all the mercantile community have to contend with. The political condition has acted as a great drawback to trade. Ever since the war closed, nearly every business man has been disfranchised, money has been voted away in a shameless manner, and property depreciated by the mismanagement of the rulers. In Nashville, for instance, are four or five boot and shoe firms of undoubted credit, their names being good for any amount of stock in the Eastern markets. Some of them have paid every dollar of their indebtedness since the war, and all made honorable settlements. It is but right that, after this record, these men should have some voice in public affairs; but in all these warehouses, among employers and employees, there has been, for four years, only one voter in each, and that was the negro porter. We know one merchant in this line in Tennessee, worth more than a quarter of a million, much of it in real estate; he did not serve in the army, and showed no more sympathy for the rebellion than he was obliged to. This man was disfranchised for four years, and could not vote even for a Town Constable. Similar instances were met with all over the State, and when the fact is taken into consideration that the rulers of the State, for the past four years, have created a debt of nearly or quite twenty millions of dollars, it is no wonder that trade and commerce have languished. Under such circumstances it was only the vast resources of the State that prevented utter bankruptcy. We noticed another disagreeable thing in Tennessee, and, indeed, in several other Southern States—the quartering of soldiers in different towns. There may have been a necessity for it, but, we confess, we could see none. It ought not to exist four years after the close of the war, unless these States are to be treated as conquered provinces.

The tendency of prices is upward, but so far no changes are made in our quotations:

The wholesale clothing merchants of our city are not behind their neighbors in laying in stocks. Already very large selections have been made, and goods are daily arriving.

The following are the receipts during the week per river and rail: Apples, 21 bbls; Ale, 65 pkgs; Bagging, 90 pcs; Bran, 395 scks; Beans, 4 bbls; Boots and Shoes, 28 cases; Barley 13 bbls; Butter, 41 pkgs; Bacon, 31 csks, 2 pkgs; Crackers, 15 bxs; Corn, 248 sks; Cornmeal, 140 bbls; Cattle, 21 head; Crockery, 43; Cement, 400 bbls; Cheese, 10 bxs; Coffee, 204 sks; Chickens, 13 coops; Cabbage, 27 crts; Dry Goods, 32 pkgs; Eggs, 35 pkgs; Flour, 1121 bbls; Fish, 7 pkgs; Furniture, 187 pkgs; Glass, 65 bxs; Groceries, 167 pkgs; Hay, 65 bls; Hides, 11 bdls; Hardware, 232 pkgs; Iron Ties, 1052 bdls; Leather, 4 bdls; Lead, 65 kegs; Lime, 68 bbls; Lumber, 32,000 ft; Molasses, 183 pkgs; Nails, 160 kegs; Oats, 181 sks; Potatoes, 140 bbls; Rice, 10 bbls; Rope, 50 coils; Sugar, 72 hhds, 60 bbls; Salt, 5 bxs; Sheep, 281 head; Tobacco, 190 pkgs; Tea, 3 pkgs; Tin, 191 bxs; Tar, 10 bbls. Wheat, 253 sks; Whisky, 2 bbls; Wine, 42 csks; Mdse, 199 pkgs; shot, 29 kegs.

We note the arrival of FRUIT from the North. Several lots of Apples have appeared in the market, and prices vary from $2 to $3 per barrel. Extra large sized are held at $3 50. Peaches are scarce and irregular.

Western BUTTER is in demand, and prices are some better. Choice, in tubs or buckets, is selling at 30@32c.

The demand for BAGGING grows larger daily, and prices are firm. We quote Greenleaf 25½@26c; Py. Ky., 24@25c; heavy flax 24@25c; Todd's light handmade 19@20c.

The PROVISION market, though firm, is dull. The demand is in a small way only. We quote: Mess Pork $35@35 50; Clear Sides 19¾@20c in lots, 20¼@20½c in a small way; Shoulders 16½@17c. Five casks of Clear Sides sold during the day at 19½c, but it was under the market. Country meats are 1@1½c under city packed. S. C. Canvassed Hams 24 to 25c; Breakfast Bacon 21 to 22c. Lard in tierces 20 to 20½c; keg 21½ to 22½c; caddies 22½ to 23c.

There is no change in COFFEE. The demand is good and prices steady. Inferior to choice Rio 19c to 26c; Java 35 to 38c.

The PRODUCE market is well supplied. Small lots of Potatoes have come in from above and sell at $2 per barrel in a small way. Forty barrels on levee were offered at $2, but no buyers. Onions, $4 per barrel and scarce. Cabbages are plentiful; 2 crates sold to-day at $9 per 100.

There is but little FEED arriving. We note a sale of 40 sacks Corn at 86c, and a small lot at 87½c. Oats are firm at 62½c on levee. One hundred sacks Bran sold at $19 per ton. Hay is scarce and firm; 40 bales arrived from St. Louis; we quote at $20@22 on levee.

The FLOUR market is dull. We hear of sales in small lots only. Low Supers, $5 to $5 50; Good do. $5 75 to $6; X, $6 25 to $6 50; XX, $7 to $7 50; XXX and Fancy, $8 to $10 50.

The supply for CORNMEAL is about equal to the demand. Fresh, at mills, $4 25, and from store, $4 50. Kilndried, in lots, $4 65; in a small way, $4 90@5.

A few packages of EGGS came in and were closed out at 23@25c per dozen, as to condition.

HIDES are steady and receipts light. We quote Green, 9 to 9½c; green salt, 10 to 10½c; dry salt, 17 to 17½c; dry flint, 21c.

IRON TIES are firm at 7 to 8c.

In LIME there is no change, with very fair demand. Alabama $2 to 2 25; Utica $1 75 to 2. Cape $2 00 to 2 25. Ohio river $1 40 to $1 50.

There is an active demand for POULTRY and market bare. Young and old sell at $5@6 25 per dozen.

In RICE there is only a small trade doing. Louisiana 8½ to 9c; South Carolina 10 to 10½c.

SUGARS and MOLASSES are in fair demand with stock good. Louisiana 12½ to 15½c; yellow clarified 16 to 16½c; white do 16½ to 17c; A, 16½ to 17c; hards 17½ to 18c. Molasses remains steady.

Keg TAR firm at $5 25 to $5 50 per dozen.

In SALT there is no change. The stock is ample and demand steady. Large dairy (seven-bushel barrels) $4 50 to 4 75; small dairy (five bushel barrels) $3 50 to 3 75; large common (seven bushel bbls.) $3 30 to 3 50; small common (5 bushel bbls.) $2 50 to 2 75.

The TOBACCO market is fairly active and prices are advancing. All grades have gone up since our last weekly edition. The crops of all the Tobacco growing states will be short owing to drouth, and the speculative demand hast is large.

The stock yards are moderately well supplied with BEEF CATTLE, and prices are steady. Western beeves are held at 3 to 8c gross; Texas $23 to 26 per head. Sheep scarce at $2 to $5 per head. Hogs dull at 7½c to 8c gross.

There is but little WHEAT coming in and prices are steady. No. 1 white $1 35 to 1 40; No. 1 red $1 30 to 1 35; No. 2, $1 20 to 1 25. Rejected, 75c to $1 10.

The WHISKY market is very firm. Highwines are scarce at $1 20@1 25. Common Rectified, 90c@$1 25. Proof Rectified, $1 35@1 50.

Railroad Miscellany.

Not less than 107 clergymen have clergymen's cards from the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, entitling them to ride on the road at half fare. They give those cards to those only who live on the line of their road.

The West Point (Miss.) Herald of Saturday says: "We regret to learn that Mr. Morris Costello, for several years Section Master on this portion of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, was killed at Corinth a few days since in attemping to replace a freight car on the track.

The Michigan Car Company, of Detroit, has just received from the New York Central Railroad a contract to build 300 freight cars. The amount of money involved in the contract will be little less than a quarter million dollars, and will employ 100 men over three months. Four cars per day will be turned out.

The Iron Mountain Railroad has entered upon a prosperous business, that will be greatly enlarged when the rolling stock is increased. Sixty new platform cars arrived at Belmont during the past ten days, and more are expected. When that road is tapped by the Cairo and Fulton, and the iron ore of the Iron Mountain furnished an outlet via Cairo, the freighting business will be at once about doubled.

The Cairo Bulletin of Saturday says the completion of the Iron Mountain railroad to Belmont, the favorable progress of the Cairo and Vincennes road, and the promising condition of the Cairo and St. Louis road, have directed increased attention to the Junction road, that is to connect Cairo with the Mobile and Ohio road.

WANTED.

WANTED—AGENTS—$75 to $200 per month everywhere, male and female, to introduce the GENUINE IMPROVED COMMON SENSE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. This machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, quilt, cord, bind, braid and embroider, in a most superior manner. Price only $18. Fully warranted for five years. We will pay $1000 for any machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful, or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the "Elastic Lock Stitch." Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay agents from $75 to $200 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made. Address SECOMB & CO., Pittsburg, Pa., St. Louis, Mo., or Boston, Mass.

CAUTION.—Do not be imposed upon by other parties palming off worthless cast-iron machines, under the same name or otherwise. Ours is the only genuine and really practical cheap machine manufactured. my9

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Almost every day we hear many persons complaining of headache, loss of appetite, and that they are not fit to do anything, etc. Many is the day that we have felt so ourselves, and in fact have gone to bed and imagined ourselves sick, but for the life of us could not tell what was the matter. One day while thus complaining, a friend said to us, "Why don't you try PLANTATION BITTERS? They are really a good thing and will make you feel like a new man." Upon his recommendation we purchased a bottle, and took them according to the directions. They seemed to go right to the spot, and gave us immediate relief. Every since we have taken every opportunity to recommend them.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price.

"Fresh as a Maiden's Blush" is the pure peachy Complexion which follows the use of Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It is the true Secret of Beauty. Fashionable ladies in society understand this.

The Magnolia Balm changes the rustic Country Girl into a City Belle more rapidly than any other one thing.

Redness, Sunburn, Tan, Freckles, Blotches and all effects of the Summer Sun disappear where it is used, and a genial, cultivated, fresh expression is obtained which rivals the Bloom of Youth. Beauty is possible to all who will invest 75 cents at any respectable store, and insist on getting the Magnolia Balm.

Use nothing but Lyon's Kathairon to Dress the Hair. jy25

Steamboat Stewards often complain that ordinary Baking Powders lose their strength and quality after being on board a vessel or boat for a few days. DOOLEY'S BAKING POWDER is not affected by any atmosphere, and will keep good in any climate. Perfectly free from deleterious substances, and it will make good, sweet, wholesome rolls, biscuits or pastry to perfection; and withal, the most economical. For sale by all grocers.

Peculiar Adaptability of Brandreth's Pills. Their peculiar adaptability to all constitutions as cleansers of the bowels and the blood has established their great merit. They restore the liver, the spleen and even the heart to healthy action when other remedies have been used without any benefit. They do not expose those who use them to any danger, being as safe as sugar.

Extract from Letter to Dr. Brandreth, from C. J. Fay, Esq., I. M., Hammonton, N. J.

"In 1848 I was in poor health, and my friends, as well as myself, supposed that my earthly voyage would soon terminate. But after taking one box of Brandreth's Pills I began to feel better. Well, sir, when I had used up twelve boxes I was a well, healthy man—my weight having gone from 131 pounds up to 152 pounds. I then ordered a supply, and between that time and the present I have retailed three thousand dollars' worth of these invaluable pills, and am quite sure that I have thereby been instrumental in saving thousands of lives. Yours, truly,
C. J. FAY, P. M."

Sold by all Druggists. Observe my name in white letters in the government stamp.
B. BRANDRETH.

Astonishing but True.---That Dooley's Chemical Yeast Baking Powder is not only the BEST but the CHEAPEST in market. It is entirely free from any deleterious substances, and compounded with such scrupulous exactness that the contents of each box are the same, and will produce the same results every time. It is unequaled for making biscuits, rolls, cakes, pastry, etc.—at once healthy and nutritious. Grocers everywhere keep it.

To Owners of Horses and Cattle.---TOBIAS' DERBY CONDITION POWDERS are warranted superior to any others, or no pay, for the cure of Distemper, Worms, Bots, Coughs, Hide-bound, Cold, etc., in Horses; and Colds, Coughs, Loss of Milk, Black Tongue, Horn Distemper, etc., in Cattle. They are perfectly safe and innocent; no need of stopping the working of your animals. They increase the appetite, give a fine coat, cleanse the stomach and urinary organs; also increase the milk of cows. Try them and you will never be without them. The late Hiram Woodruff, celebrated trainer of trotting horses, used them for years. Col. Philo. P. Bush, of the Jerome Race Course, Fordham, N. Y., would not use them until he was told of what they are composed, since which he is never without them. He has over twenty running horses in his charge, and for the last three years has used no other medicine for them. He has kindly permitted me to refer any one to him. Over 1000 other references can be seen at the Depot. Sold by Druggists and Saddlers. Price, 25 cents per box. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.--This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad Dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, BLACK OR BROWN. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers; and properly applied at Batchelor's Wig Factory, No. 16 Bond street, N. Y.

REWARDS.

$10,000 REWARD.

THE undersigned being desirous to change business and locality, now offer for sale a splendid Steam Flouring and Sawmill, located in the town of Murray, Calloway Co., Kentucky.

The engine, boiler, etc., were purchased of the Washington Foundry, St Louis, Mo., and of the best material. The flouring machinery of Isaac Straub & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. The saw is a 60-inch; the engine 20-inch stroke and 10-inch cylinder; boiler 22 feet by 38 inches, and two flue; all stationary and well put up.

We have the best stand for mill men in our knowledge, surrounded by a good country, a large crop of wheat and a heavy run of custom; good water, and no one to rival in quantity or quality. In addition to above a three-story mill house, a good dwelling house, 58 acres of land—part in cultivation, part in timber—several hundred bushels of corn on hand, between one and two hundred head of stock and pork hogs, two yoke of fine cattle, log and wood wagon, timber wheels, and many other necessaries too tedious to mention.

All of the above we will sell at reasonable figures. Those wishing business of this kind we solicit to come and examine; or for further information address us by mail.
CARSON, PETER & CO.
Murray, Ky., July 20, 1869. jy26

$700 REWARD.

AT a stated communication of Oakland Lodge No. 82 A. F. and A. M., held at Oakland, Miss., on the 14th day of August, 1869, it was, RESOLVED, That as our worthy brother, F. D. BARNES, senior Warden of this Lodge, was assassinated on the 9th inst., by Dr. A. J. Lott, a non-affiliated Mason of the same place that the Lodge offer a reward for the capture of the murderer.

Description of said Lott—He is about six feet one inch high; slender form; heavy, square shoulders, slightly humped; very black piercing eyes; long black whiskers and moustache, slightly grey; black hair, rather thin on top of head; dark complexion; forty-seven years of age, apparently about thirty-five; weighs about 150 pounds. This lodge offers a reward of two hundred dollars, in addition to five hundred dollars offered by the father of the deceased, for arrest of the murderer and his confinement in jail, so that he may be brought to justice.

All papers friendly to the cause of Masonry will please copy one time.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Magistrates had a dull time of it yesterday.

—The hotels are filling up with guests.

—Sixty-eight prisoners pine for deliverance from the county jail.

—The first bale of Marshall county cotton arrived on Sunday, consigned to Wolcott & Smith.

—Only six arrests at the First District, up to 12 o'clock last night—all on trivial charges.

—The Second District Police station furnished nothing of interest yesterday in the way of items.

—Be careful about eating too much fruit, etc. Chills and fever are easily contracted at this season of the year.

—The Shelby County Agricultural, Mechanical and Horticultural Society, are making active preparations for the County Fair.

—"Our Jim" is flying his kite from one of the tallest peaks of Lookout Mountain. He is coming home when his string breaks.

—The Weekly Appeal will be ready on Wednesday morning. Parties desiring copies will do well to send in their orders to-day.

—A. H. Carlin, charged with murder and grand larceny, was committed to jail last evening on a capias issued from the Sheriff's office. He had been out under bail.

—At the Memphis and Ohio Depot yesterday morning Oliver Smith, a negro, accidently shot himself in the knee by dropping a pistol out a carpetbag in which he was rummaging.

—Mr. Alfred Moore, one of the earliest settlers of McNairy county, and for more than a generation fully identified with the history of his section, died on the 25th inst.

—If John Brittingham or Millie Stover are in the city, they will confer a favor by calling upon their sister, Mrs. Mary Roberts, at the Lehner House, corner of Second and Washington streets.

—On Saturday the official bonds of Hume F. Hill, Notary Public, and Thos B. Mynatt, Justice of the Peace, were referred, by the County Commissioners, to the Attorney of the county for approval as to form.

—There's no such thing as satisfying some people. The fellows who croaked all day Sunday about the dust, and the heat, and the drouth, and "all sich," stood in doorways last night growling over "the nasty, sloppy weather" and wondering "if it was never going to stop raining."

—We are in possession of a letter from Mr. M. L. Bean, of Crittenden county, Ark., which states that he is now the only living son of Russell Bean, the first white man born in the State of Tennessee. He may be addressed, by parties interested, care of the steamer Cheek, at Harklerode's Landing, Ark.

—The late election, though a decided victory for the people over their enemies, was a pretty dear luxury as far as Shelby county is concerned. Vide the following items: For publishing notices of election $775; Registration, over $800; Judge's fees, between $800 and $900. The whole bill of expense will probably reach $4000.

—The fire Sunday night, about half-past 10 o'clock, on Seventh street (Chelsea), destroyed a house occupied as a residence by Mr. J. J. Anderson. Notwithstanding the rain which was falling at the time, the house was consumed with such rapidity that a very small portion of the furniture, etc., of Mr. Anderson was saved. There was no insurance either upon the building or contents. Loss, about $2000.

—"The early bird catches the worm." Five o'clock yesterday morning a negro wench commenced her weeks' work by robbing a room over No. 11 Union street of a lot of clothing. In her haste to escape the colored female sneak-thief dropped her head-gear, a hat and Spanish moss chignon, which will lead to her arrest.

—More horse stealing. On Saturday night last Mr. B. M. Ryder had stolen from his premises, three-and-a-half miles north of Raleigh, two mules, two horses and a spring wagon. A negro man, named Willis, a resident of the neighborhood, is suspected. These depredations will go on until some half dozen of the thieves take a "look up a rope," which will cause a temporary lull in the business.

—The proprietors of the City Hotel, at Nashville, do not seem to be any way alarmed about the great new hotel—the Maxwell House. They have clean, airy, cool and pleasantly located rooms, and set a table every day laden with the best the market affords, and the market of Nashville is as good as any in the country—as far ahead of Memphis as it is possible to conceive. We hope our friends will remember the City Hotel when they sojourn in Nashville.

—Deputy Sheriff Taylor, who was despatched to New York to bring School Fund Rutter back to the scene of his exploits in the sequestration line, returned Sunday, but without having accomplished the object of his errand, the reasons for which have been made known through the telegraphic reports of the Appeal some [illegible] F. R. sought the syl- [illegible] w Jersey as soon as [illegible] York authorities, [illegible] ot annoyed any more by the State authorities here, he will appear at Nashville when wanted. But he won't stand any more mandamus foolishness.

—The writ of habeas corpus in the case of State vs. James Vance was returned before Judge Foute yesterday afternoon at chambers, and the case investigated, which resulted in the prisoner being remanded to jail to await his trial at the next term of the Criminal Court.

—The black ruffian that, by the grace of Ulysses I. and Postoffice Rawlings, now disgraces the position of mail agent over the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad, is informed that the law forbids his making the postal car a vehicle for the conveyance of his friends. No wonder that cash letters seldom reach their destination when impecunious negroes ride where they reach out their pickers and stealers and help themselves.

—Nowhere in the world are the sunsets more indescribably glorious than as we behold them, even here, from the hight on which Memphis stands. Mists that rise from boundless swamps beyond the great river assume as many fantastic shapes and brilliant hues as those lifted like a veil from the Mediterranean to enshroud with matchless splendors the queenly city of Naples. Here, in Memphis, a shadow, paler perhaps, strews its mantle over interminable Wesstern wilds; but each parting day in summer time, dies like the dolphin, each pang begetting, as life is gasped away, a new color; the last still the loveliest, till the shadows of night, as those of death, invest the world in gloom.

—There's two sides to every question; be bad state of affairs if there wasn't. The Chinese, as laborers are thus endorsed by Mr. Kelly, an experienced sugar overseer of the Attakapas section of Louisiana. "He says that they can outsteal anything he ever saw. They are treacherous, stubborn and lazy, and he would rather have one negro on a place than five Chinese. But he thinks these were not as good as the average of Chinese laborers, and would rank low among even the coolie labor of Cuba. But he says he never wants another Chinese laborer on a place that he manages."

—A German friend was telling us yesterday of a nose that belongs to a Beal street chum of his. "Don'd laugh, but wen you gets a goot chance, chust take a look—chust kind of go id siteways vonce on dat nose. Ids der awfullest schnoot! Id may be all gericht, but I don'd dink so. I haf seen some ofergrond horns in my time, but dis is der ofergrondesest vat I eter saw—und der pest ding of it all, der feller vot leases it don'd know id. I wouldn't be opliged to cart dat bugle round mit me for pig vages. I vonder if he has to bay any "infernal refenue dax" on id! Uf I hat sooch a pig's foot like dat hangin' from my beforehet, I vood haf der riod acd read to id everfy vonce in short vile. Bud he's a goot feller, I dells you. His heart is twice so pig as his nose, bud it ain't so plain on his face like dat nose. I made him shmile von day, ven I dold him uf I hat dat horn I vood have der Declamashun of Inderbendence bricked in id mit Inchun ink, und den I vood giv id to Sharley Proom und led him hav it raffled for de poys."

—We know of no jaunt more delightful and at the same time easier of access for our home people, than the tour of our Switzerland—the mountains of East Tennessee, Chief among the attractions of this jaunt is Lookout Mountain—the Riga of these Alps, around which cluster so many memories proud, grand and glorious, yet sad, whose name brings trooping back so many historic recollections of the time when we of the South were a people. From its lofty brow, on any day of the year the tourist may at one coup d'œil take in Chattanooga and the surrounding battlefields, and look far into five States, which are spread beneath and around him like a map. From some reason unknown to us, up to within a few days the hotel on the mountain—the "Mountain House" has been closed. We are pleased to learn, however, from a letter from a correspondent that Dr. A. L. Ritchey, a gentleman in every sense of the word, and who knows how to keep a hotel, has taken a lease upon it, and although the season is so far advanced has put it in complete order for the reception of visitors, and is now prepared to entertain any number of guests. We understand that numerous excursion parties are already forming in the towns of Georgia to visit "Old Lookout," and hope that one may be gotten up in Memphis. Carriages or conveyances are always to be obtained at very moderate charge in Chattanooga to take individuals or parties up the mountain on the arrival of every train. The fare at the hotel is excellent, and if it were not the bracing mountain air gives one an appetite that does not crave dainties. Several Memphians are now sojourning there, among whom we may mention is Rev. Dr. Ford. All speak in glowing terms of Dr. Ritchey as a landlord, and cordially recommend the Mountain House.

DOES MOODY LIVE?

Has Galvanism Restored the Dead to Life?

Has the Hangman Been Cheated by the Doctors?

Moody Supposed to be Haunting the Banks of Wolf River.

His Ghost in a Church, Explodes a Prayer Meeting.

"He wrenched from the skies Heaven's forked brand,
And tore the scepter from the tyrant's hand."

Such deeds were ascribed to the great American printer, philosopher and statesman. Even more wonderful than this, the agency employed by Franklin has revivified the dead, and where life may not be restored is used to create in absolute perfection the likeness of the loved and lost. It annihilates space and leaps from continent to continent, bearing messages from separated friends even as it flashes across the heavens and bridges with lurid splendors the archway of the skies. It makes the earth quake, shakes the solid globe, disperses and gathers the tempests of heaven, and seems the life and soul of all created things. Six centuries before the Christian era, Thales, the Milesian philosopher, remarked that electron, amber, when rubbed, drew to it light bodies, as the loadstone attracts iron. Slowly, it has been shown through the observations and experiments of two thousand years that lightning is electricity. Thunder clouds and electrical batteries produce the same effects upon human life. French philosophers have often appeased the storm's fury by sending to the clouds a kite attached to a metallic thread, which silently and harmlessly draws downward the fluid lightning. The varnished stool which supports the metallic string is scorched by the electric current which often falls over it, a cascade of fire.

But it is with the physological effects of electricity that we have now to deal. The story is current, (which may or not be true), that one of the supposed recent victims of the hangman's rope, who has surely expiated his crime, whether he lives or is dead, still wanders about the suburbs of the city. It is said that when the trap fell, on which the negro Moody stood, the knot on the side of his neck was displaced, and that his spine was never broken. It is said that his body was instantly spirited away by young physicians, who had prepared everything for his successful reanimation. Whether they used the Leyden jar or galvanic battery we are not advised. It is said that a skillful electrician and telegraph manager co-operated with the sons of Galen, and probably the same mechanism and electrical agencies, seen in the telegraph offices of the city, were employed in revivifying the strangled negro. Experiments have shown, without referring to those which all have witnessed made with the Leyden jar and the sensation caused by its sparks, that all animal organization, as to sensibility, motion, digestive functions, nutrition, and the development of the organs, is under the empire of electricity. It was Aldini—a nephew of Galvani, who gave his name to galvanism, who first tried the effect of galvanism—on animals which had been killed and criminals executed. We read in Professor Silliman's works that the head of a bull, detached from the body and placed on a table, when excited by the electrical current, opened its eyes, rolled them furiously, inflated its nostrils, and shook its ears as if the animal were alive and prepared for combat. On another table the plunges of a dead horse begat danger to the spectators and broke the apparatus placed near the animal. Some years ago, in England, as is said to have occurred in this city, physiologists purchased from a criminal, condemned to death, his own body, in order to test animal electric theories, and also with the charitable intention of recalling the hanged man to life.

The motive for the intervention of the gentlemen to whom we have referred in behalf of Moody, was even stronger than that suggested by scientific curiosity. By very many he was deemed guiltless of murder. A confessed thief, he persistently asserted that he was the victim of a perjured villian, who escaped the gallows by becoming a witness for the prosecution. Even when the neck of the convict has been broken the effect of the galvanic battery on the body is terrific. The corpse does not return to life, but a violent and convulsive respiration is begotten, the eye-lids open and close, the lips become convulsed, and the face and features of the murderer, no longer obeying any directing power of intellect, present such strange, unearthly contortions of physiognomy that the spectators, as is said to have occurred when Moody was resuscitated, fainted with horror, and wore only restrained from running away by doors securely barred against all intruders.

Two of the city papers have adverted to vague rumors which asserted the escape of Moody. In fact these newspaper surmises may have given origin to the prevalent conviction among colored people that Moody still wanders abroad at night. A Doctor has assumed to know more of the matter than the dared to tell; but this gentleman is quite as successful a humorist and practical joker as physician, and, as he recently proved, an adroit manager of a political convention. Last Wednesday night there was a colored prayer meeting in the Tenth Ward. Many blacks were assembled and religious fervor was as strongly developed as animal heat. The assemblage was noisy and songs and prayers grew longer and louder. A negro man entered the doorway about ten o'clock. His slouched hat was drawn over his eyes as he moved stealthily into a seat. The most eloquent of colored exhorters was engaged in prayer, and the congregation were bowed before the altar. Those who occupied seats near that which the stranger had taken, first began to leave the house. At first they went out one by one; but the story was soon whispered over the house that Moody, the dead man, was in the church, and gradually the whole assemblage melted away. When the deacon or elder arose up, the silent unknown sat in solitude; a few old men and women were near the pulpit, but the crowd had incontinently fled. There was little sleep that night in Chelsian African abodes.

There is a famous negress, we are told by a policeman, known as Swayback Bet, who frequents, as cook and house servant, the northeastern district of the city. She is reputed most fearless, reckless and devilish. The streets are her home, and moon and stars light up her accustomed domicil. Swayback Bet is reformed. She attends church and sings and prays earnestly at each prayer meeting. She is suddenly and miraculously changed. It is said that Bet saw Moody hanged, and standing not far away was delighted by the exciting, horrible, ghastly spectacle. Two nights afterwards, as the story goes, Swayback Bet encountered Moody on the Bayou Bridge. The moon shone brilliantly, and Bet fearlessly marched up to Moody, who sought to evade her. She discovered his purpose, and finally succeeded in catching the man, enervated by suffering, and by protracted imprisonment. When Swayback Bet looked into Moody's face she uttered a wild shriek and turned and fled along the street, proclaiming the resurrection of the dead. Whether the world believes or not, Swayback Bet is redeemed and Moody immortal. It is said that Moody sleeps in a saw mill, is often seen near the old cotton factory, and that his terrors have been such, and he is the cause of such unexampled terror to others, that he is as timid as a hare, and flies before the coming dawn to conceal himself among the drift wood piled along the banks of Wolf and Hatchie rivers.

If there be foundation for these vague stories the doctors can tell. There may be crime in taking, but not in restoring life. The law does not recognize the functions of galvanism, and if the executioners have been cheated and the majesty of the law defied, no crime has been committed in restoring the dead criminal to a life which is more intolerable than death.

KENO.

Quasi Recognition by Judicial Authority of the Legality of the Game.

Considerable attention has been drawn to the fact that Judge Foute, of the Municipal Court, has granted an injunction on the petition of J. W. Alley, restraining the Metropolitan Police from interfering in any manner with the exhibition of the game of keno. It was thought that the exodus of Judge Hunter had put an end to this sort of thing, but the action of Judge Foute proves to the contrary. The Supreme Court of the State has already rendered a decision to the effect that the statutes against gambling generally apply with the same force against keno as against any other game, and the present move is thought to be only a "sharp dodge" on the part of the petitioner to carry on the game until the second Monday in October, when the Court will next convene, and when another decision will probably squelch the speculation.

Annexed are the orders of the Court under which the police force are restrained:

Municipal Court, City of Memphis,
County of Shelby, August 28, 1869.

To the Clerk of the Municipal Court:

On the plaintiff, J. W. Alley, executing a bond of $500, with approved security, payable to defendants on conditions according to law, etc., you will issue a process restraining the defendants, W. H. Pearne, A. P. Burditt, and Channing Richards, Metropolitan Police Commissioners, their agents, servants, or patrolmen, from interfering with or molesting the plaintiff in the carrying on of his business known as "keno" at No. 43½ Jefferson street, city of Memphis, and from arresting plaintiff, guests, or customers in and about said business because of participation therein. And from interfering with, seizing, or destroying any of the property kept and used by the plaintiff in the business of the said place.

G. P. FOUTE, Judge, etc.

State of Tennessee, Shelby County. To W. H. Pearne, A. P. Burditt and Channing Richards, Metropolitan Police Commissioners, their agents, servants and policemen:

By order of Green P. Foute, Judge of the Municipal Court of Memphis, you and each of you are hereby order inhibited and restrained from interfering with or molesting J. W. Alley, in carrying on his business known as Keno, at No. 43½ Jefferson street, city of Memphis, Shelby county, Tenn., and also from arresting said J. W. Alley, his guests and customers in and about said business, and from arresting any person in and about said business because of participation therein, and from interfering with, seizing or destroying any of the property and implements kept and used by said J. W. Alley, in and about said business at said place, and this you will in nowise omit.

The Marshal of said Municipal Court will execute and return this writ as prescribed by law.

Witness, Frank Taft, Clerk of the Municipal Court of Memphis, at office in the city of Memphis, the 28th day of August, 1869.

FRANK TAFT, Clerk.
By R. F. BOSWELL, D. C.

Personal.

—Mose Parrish, of the Bolivar Bulletin, is in the city.

Sell Howell returned from a flying trip westward yesterday.

—Mr. Will Woodson, Associated Press Agent, returned to the city yesterday from two week's ruralizing in Central Kentucky.

Barney Hughes, the ever popular, has just received the appointment of general passenger agent for the Louisville and Cincinnati Short Line Route, with headquarters.

—Franc. M. Holbrook, of the Humboldt Headlight, is in town, and will call upon our principal business men in reference to advertising contracts for the coming season.

—Capt. Jack Chambers left the city at 4 o'clock this morning for Pittsburg, where he is matched to puil a shell-boat race with Hamill. The race comes off on the 10th prox., and we predict an easy victory for Jack—if he lets watermelon juice alone.

—Mr. A. Connell, of the firm of Connell & Co., lumber dealers, arrived home yesterday from a brief trip West on business. He brought orders from St. Louis for lumber for chair bottoms, which suggests how much we might make by having a chair factory here.

—Mr. J. M. Pettigrew, of Edmonds, Pettigrew & Co., tobacconists, Front street, between Madison and Monroe, has just returned from Virginia, where he has been spending a few weeks on business connected with his house. He gives rather gloomy reports of crops of both corn and tobacco in that State. The health of that country is good we presume, as he is looking fine. The firm of which this gentleman is a member have a good stock of tobacco on hand, which they offer at reasonable prices.

—Col. John Donovan, President of the People's Bank, accompanied by his wife and children, arrived home yesterday after an absence of some months at the North. Col. Donovan, who is a shrewd "observer of men and things," tells us that the result of our State election was by all classes at the North hailed with delight, and that many hundreds are preparing to emigrate to our State, believing that since its release from Radical domination it is just the place for white men. We should say so.

A Fine Lunch will be set every morning from 10 to 1 o'clock by Schooles & Dedrich, at their new saloon, No. 237 Second street two doors north of Jefferson.

LARGE AUCTION SALE OF DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, CLOTHING, ETC., this (Tuesday) morning at 10 o'clock by GOTLIEB & EZEKIEL, corner Second and Adams streets.

Removal.—Wheaton & Co., Hatters and Furriers, have removed to 279 Main street, late Handlan & Co.'s stand.

Joe Locke, 236½ Main street, has Die Modenwelt, Leslie's, Demorest, Peterson, Godey's Lady's Magazine, Harper, Galaxy, Lippincott, New Eclectic for September, besides a host of other sporting, phunny, rural, literary, police, scientific, Irish, German and French weeklies, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Nashville and New York dailies, stationery, etc., etc.

LIBERAL OFFER.

A Compliment to the Typographical Fraternity.

President White, of the Memphis Typographical Union No. 11, has received the following letter from Mr. Wm. Preston Johnson, Chairman of the Faculty of Washington College, of which Gen. R. E. Lee is President. It is a handsome compliment to the craft, coming, as it does, from so prominent a source:

Washington College,
Lexington, Va., August 19, 1869.

To the President of the Typographical Union, Memphis, Tenn.:

Dear Sir: The Faculty of Washington College are authorized to appoint to free scholarships a certain number of young men intending to make journalism their profession. These scholarships include tuition and all College charges, and are of the value of about $100 per annum. The appointments are for two years. A condition is attached that the student shall labor one hour per day in the line of his profession, if required; the intention being to give him classical, typographical, or other instruction of use to him. The College makes no provision for the board of the pupil, owing to the want of means; but he enjoys all the privileges of any other student. A catalogue is mailed herewith, giving details as to the College.

Will you please inform the Typographical Union of Memphis that it is requested to nominate a suitable person for one of these scholarships? The candidate should be over fifteen years of age, of good moral character, and able to enter the lowest class in three schools of the College.

* * * * * *

Please give this as early attention as convenient, as the College opens September 16th. Any information in regard to the Typographical Unions of the United States will be a favor.

Very respectfully, your obed't serv't,
WM. PRESTON JOHNSTON,
Chairman.

M. S. & K. C. RAILROAD.

The Great Scheme Initiated in Missouri--What will Memphis do?

Springfield, Missouri,
August 25th, 1869.

From an occasional correspondent.]

If you, and the readers of the Appeal, will examine the diagram of a road to be called the Kansas, Springfield and Memphis Railroad, you or they will discover at once its importance to Memphis—opening to your city a country and trade that will be free from the exhausting influence of cross lines of roads; you will draw a new region to Memphis, of at least one hundred thousand square miles, rich in cereals, cotton, minerals, fruit and grapes; the latter, the Concord, is one of the "best in the world." In connection with the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, it will furnish the shortest line to Washington City; it will converge an arterial system of rail at Memphis. The Convention is a great success, and accomplished all that the most sanguine friends of the road could hope for. Much credit is to be accorded Col. J. W. Eldridge, formerly of your city, now of Springfield, for his untiring energies. In fact, he is one of the fathers of the project. Delegates were in attendance from all counties on the line of road from Springfield to Kansas City, and were fully competent to assure the Convention of large subscriptions from their respective counties. Col. Richardson, of Green county, was selected as temporary President of the Kansas City and Springfield branch of the road. B. B. Waddell, Esq., of Memphis, performed faithfully the duties entrusted to his charge, and won golden opinions by his prompt and vigorous action in the details of his mission. The Kansas City and Springfield end of the line under the management of Col. Richardson, one of ablest men in Missouri, will soon be in course of construction. Let Memphis profit by the energetic action of southwest Missouri, and promptly build her end of the line. The Convention adjourned to meet in Kansas City on the 19th of October prox. After the adjournment of the Convention a grand ball was given to the delegates, and was participated in by hundreds of the belles and beaux of this region. We have never been at the deliberations of any body where parliamentary law was better understood, business more promptly dispatched, or when greater enthusiasm was displayed than at the great Railroad Convention which has initiated the Kansas, Springfield and Memphis Railroad.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Meeting of the Board of Commissioners Yesterday.

But little business came up for consideration yesterday before the County Commissioners. The County Attorney was ordered to report to the Board what proceedings on the part of the Board were necessary to carry out the work of re-districting the county according to the act of the last Legislature, which provides for twenty-five instead of seventeen civil districts as heretofore.

An order to pay Judges and county officers monthly instead of quarterly was passed.

Proposals for the purchase of the county property on Adams street were opened and read by the Clerk. Only two offers had been made—one each by Mr. L. M. Wolcott and Mr. R. P. Walt. Mr. Wolcott's bid is $20,000 in currency—one-fourth cash, balance in one, two and three years, with interest from day of purchase. That of Mr. Walt is $20,000 in county warrants—one-third down, balance in six and twelve months. Both proposals were laid over for further consideration at next meeting.

[The property is situated immediately east of McPherson's Academy, on the north side of Adam's street. It has a front of about 160 feet and runs through from Adams to Washington streets.—Rep.]

Bills from the Avalanche, Post and Bulletin, for publishing election notices, were passed to payment.

Adjourned to meet this morning at the usual hour.

Bills of Exchange on all the principal cities of Europe for sale in sums to suit at First National Bank, No. 14 Madison street.

RIVERS WEATHER AND BUSINESS.

Nashville, August 30.—The weather is more moderate, with rains yesterday and to-day.

Cincinnati, August 30.—Arrived, Leonidas.

The river is falling. The weather is cool.

Cairo, August 30.—Up, City of Cairo, 3 a.m. Down, Florilla, 11 a.m.; Mohawk, 5 p.m.

The river rose 14 inches. Weather cloudy and cool.

St. Louis, August 30.—Arrived, Marble City. Departed, Belle St. Louis.

The river is rising steadily at this point. Clear and pleasant.

Louisville, August 30.—The river is stationary, with three feet in the canal.

New Orleans, August 30.—Departed, Lizzie Gill and Continental for St. Louis.

Memphis Gas Works, August 30.

The river rose 1½ inch in the past twenty-four hours. It stood 24 feet 10 inches below the high water mark of 1867 this morning.

CHAS. GOODWIN.

It will be seen that the river is again rising at this point. The late rises have been general, and we should not be astonished to hear of quite a little swell here. Our dispatches announce a swell in the lower Ohio and that stream rising at Cairo. The channel thence to Louisville was not improved, however. The rains no doubt will help the water very soon. Hence to Cairo there is 9 to 10 feet in the channel. The Arkansas and White are unchanged. Weather hot and sultry. Business very good.

We learn that at last one of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen has been seriously offended at a jocular paragraph which appeared in this column yesterday. A man hide-bound sufficiently to imagine that we intended to characterize the whole Board as dishonest is hardly worthy of an apology, but as the old adage of "Poor Tray" does not hold good in this case we will again state that some of the members are under indictment for bribery and corruption, and the evidence given by us can be appreciated by such of our citizens as have read the papers and kept posted on the news of the day.

We have stated frequently that Capt. Jack Chambers was just about to leave town on a trip to the Ohio river. He assured us last night that he would start this morning. We don't, however, say that he has gone.

The Ozark did not get in until late yesterday, but left on her regular time. This line never fails. Their packets go out with the regularity of a clock, hence their great popularity.

The Minneola is due and will no doubt be found in port at noon. Her cargo is all in good condition except such as was on the unlucky barge.

The Glasgow is due from above. The Commonwealth was also due last night on her way to New Orleans.

Some thief stole Jimmy Thompson's mare on Saturday night. A reward of $50 is offered in another column for her recovery.

Cook Creighton goes to St Louis in a few days to fix up his office on the Mississippi, and will this season add largely to his already long list of friends.

The Argos still lies at our levee. She will no doubt depart at an early day for White river.

The Minneola will be in port at noon and leaves on Thursday for Cairo and Cincinnati—Capt. Miller commands.

The fine steamer St. Francis will back out this evening for the Cut off on St. Francis river. She is gay as a lark. Capt. Tom Bowman, Sam Parine and Charley Clark are her officers.

Capt. Sam C. Paine is now one of the firm of Paine & McConnell, commission merchants. They are proprietors of the Charleston Cotton Shed on Adams street. We promised Sam all our crop this year.

The Commonwealth will pass down at 10 a.m. to-day for New Orleans. It is only necessary to say that Capt. Bill Thompson, one of the best officers afloat, is in command, to insure all the Southern bound passengers in the city. Joe Lloyd is chief clerk.

The Pauline Carroll leaves St. Louis to-day, and the Olive Branch follows on Thursday.

Capt. Adams names his new steamers, now building at Cincinnati, as follows: R. P. Walt, Mary Boyd and Dardanelle.

More annoyance is in store for river men. A board of marine revenue officers will assemble in Cincinnati during the first week of September, for the purpose of determining where three revenue cutters, that are to be placed upon the Western waters, shall be stationed.

The Julia did not get in last night, but leaves at 10 a.m. to-day for Vicksburg and the bends. She is the U. S. mail packet. Callahan is master, and Andy Isaacs is chief secretary.

The elegant Belle Memphis, Capt. John Crane, leaves to-day for Cairo and St. Louis. She is a traveler, and the favorite of all Memphians. Billy Blenker is clerk of beautiful Belle.

The Legal Tender, Capt. John Elliott, leaves to-day at her appointed hour for all points on White river. She makes all connections. Matt Glass has charge of her freight department.

One of the channel spans of the bridge over the Ohio river, at Louisville, 370 feet long, was completed on Thursday. This is the longest span of a truss bridge erected in this country. The whole bridge will be finished in the early part of November.

Charley Havelin, twelve years old, a son of Alex Havelin, well known in Memphis, was drowned at Dunleith a few days ago. The family were on their way home from St. Paul. The father had given the boy permission to bathe in the river.

The J. D. Hine has been sold at New Orleans and goes to Trinity river, Texas.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice to Property Owners.

State of Tennessee, County of Shelby. } July Term, 1869.

Board of County Commissioners, August 18, 1869.

ORDERED, Etc., That the Clerk of the County Court be instructed to advertise in the Appeal and Avalanche, giving all property owners notice that the assessments of real and personal property for State and county are now completed, and that they have the privilege of objecting to the same and endeavoring to obtain corrections during the next thirty days, by making proper application to the assessors, after which time no corrections can or will be allowed, it being necessary to place the tax books in the Collector's hands at the earliest practicable date; and that each paper make a local notice, calling particular attention to the advertisement.

In accordance with the foregoing order of the Board, all parties desiring to know the value of their real and personal property, as assessed by the assessors of their respective districts, can obtain such information on application at this office until the 20th day of September, 1869; petitions will be received and referred to the assessors.

aul9 JOHN LOAGUE, Clerk.
